Multiloop 210/185 purple

Versatile and flexible

Where other locks are too short, too unwieldy, or reach their limits, the flexible and versatile Multiloop 210 comes into play.

At 185 centimeters long, the special lock offers a generous margin for securing your valuables. The adapter integrated in the housing makes it a cinch to convert the Multiloop 210 from a large loop to a two-loop cable. Folded up, it saves space and is easy to transport. The Multiloop 210 is the ideal addition to your existing U-lock, padlock, or frame lock. The ten-millimeter steel cable can be used to secure bulky and multiple items from theft at once thanks to the variably adjustable loops.

The lock is also suitable for securing camping or garden furniture, surfboards, ladders, and more at home and on the road. The synthetic coating on the steel cable protects surfaces from paint damage and scratches during both connection and transport. As an aside, ABUS key service is offered for the Multiloop 210. This allows you to easily reorder additional and replacement keys.
