

VERSATILE DOOR BOLT

The ABUS 322/112 locking bolt is a good alternative for padlocks or door chain guards. It enables doors to be secured quickly without the use of keys.

Thanks to the practical, small bolt with opening code, you can lock gates, sheds, cupboards, wooden boxes and doors - all without an additional padlock. Even animal enclosures and rabbit hutches can be reliably secured with the locking bolt. To open, simply enter the 4-digit opening code that you choose yourself. With the security screws provided, the door bar with opening code can be installed in no time at all. These screws offer additional protection against theft: once fitted, they are impossible to unscrew. The body of the bolt is made of weatherproof zinc die cast, so it can be used both indoors and outdoors.
